Schultz Back To Haunt Planners With C-2 Motel

The C-2 zone land use merry-go-round on which the Planning Commission has been uncomfortably riding for 15 months is about to stop right where it started, at development of the Schultz property (Bettie Greene stables) at Junipero and Fifth Streets.

Plans for a two story 12 unit-12 parking spaces apartment motel on the site were submitted by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Schultz to planning commissioners in study session yesterday afternoon, replacing the original Schultz building, a combination of 14 multiple dwellings above seven stores, which began the C-2 whirl.

The first plan was given to the planning commission for land use approval in July 1956. The commission did not want habitations in C-2 zone. They wished to reserve the area for light industry as outlined in the Livingston master plan, and disapproved C-2 land use for the Schultz apartment-store building. The merry-go-round began to turn with music provided by protesting C-2 property owners.

Then the city council had a turn on the carousel when Mr. and Mrs. Schultz appealed the commission's ruling. The council's merry-go-round jaunt ended when they reversed the planning commission's decision in October 1956, and approved the multiple dwelling apartment-store combination C-2 land use.

Faced with the council's approval of multiple dwellings use in C-2 zone the commission has been going dizzily round and round ever since trying to establish open space coverage and off street parking requirements. They decided finally on the 6-4 ratio (600 square feet of building to 400 square feet

PAUL BUDD, Civilian Personnel Director of Fort Ord Complex.

BY CAROLYN ELSTOB

Scholar, adventurer, and "house-keeper" for 30,000 men! Paul Budd, Carmelite, recently presented the Sustained Superior Performance Award by Major General William M. Breckenridge, commanding general of Fort Ord, has completed his tenth year as Civilian Personnel Director of Fort Ord Complex. Paul himself is just about one of the most complex individuals I've ever had the good fortune to talk with.

In the playroom of his home on San Antonio there are dramatically displayed photographs of 40 ships, U. S. Transports and battleships, Scandinavian, Japanese and German ships; Paul, who has circled the globe, and made the trip from the mainland to the Islands 27 times, has bunked-in on all 40!

"Every time I walked down a gang plank it led to a new interest, an adventure," he told me. "My Fort Ord duties have kept me longer in one spot than any other job of my life."

I wanted to know how he came to write a book for Stanford University entitled, Development of the Eggs and Early Larvae of Six California Fish; why and when he became business manager for the United Film Corporation in Osaka, Japan; why he turned to teaching Science in the High School on the Island of Maui; and at still another time was busily writing on Embryology for the University of Hawaii and the Territorial Department of Agriculture.

Paul Budd was born in Rochester, New York, where his father was working on the development of camouflage in the Eastman laboratories. When Paul was nine the family moved to Honolulu where he attended Punahou Academy. Upon graduation he entered Stanford University, majoring in Graphic Arts and Education. He

5 Community Chest Precincts Complete; Everybody Working

Carmel has reached fifty-six percent of its $29,000 quota in the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest drive, Mrs. Julian von Meier, secretary for the Carmel area, reported this morning.

Five of the 25 residence district precinct chairmen reported this week that their workers have completed their block solicitations and turned in their collections.

Mrs. Hans von Richter, Carmel Hills chairman, turned in $390. Her workers are: Mrs. Hope Alexander, Mrs. Robert Newton, Mrs. Francis Palmer and Mrs. Paul Chedester.

Mrs. Paul Low, Walker Tract, $381, assisted by Mrs. Francis Jacoby.

Mrs. James Doney, precinct 4, $623. Her helpers are: Mrs. Chris Nedderison, Mrs. Philip Arnold, Miss Florence Harper, Miss Kathryn Wait, Mrs. John Widdicombe, Mrs. Donald Teague, Mrs. Arthur Hill.

Mrs. C. B. Haseltine, precinct 2, $623. Her committee: Mrs. Fenton Grigsby, Mrs. Douglas MacGregor, Miss Pauline Genesey, Mrs. H. G. Rembold, Mrs. Alice Boulter and Mrs. W. S. Yates.

Corum Jackson, Carmel realtor, was elected for a third term as chairman of the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross at the annual meeting yesterday afternoon.

Robert E. Ross was chosen vice chairman, replacing Mrs. Raymond Draper; E. H. Ewig was retained treasurer for a second term; Mrs. James Pruitt, who filled out Mrs. Adrian Bennett's term, was elected secretary.

Mrs. Pruitt is a new member of the executive committee. The other new executive committee member is Mrs. E. P. Marcucci who replaces Lt. Gen. J. A. Underhill.

New board of directors are: Lew McCreery, Frank Graham, Fred Dodd, The Reverend K. Fillmore Gray, George Yates, Stanley Ewig and Mrs. William A. Smith.

No Dice . . .

Carmel's four city councilmen (all we have at present) emerged from two hours of executive session last night without having appointed a fifth member, but with a statement:

"The council has met tonight and has received a number of names for consideration.

"They made no decision on a selection, but hope to do so in the time allowed.

"In the meanwhile, the council will meet again on Sunday, October 20, to continue consideration."

The "time allowed" ends November 8, at 7:45 o'clock, the thirty-day anniversary of Francis Whitaker's resignation. If they do not appoint someone to succeed Mr. Whitaker in that time, they are required to call an election.

Gentlemen:

I regret to inform you that Carmel's trees, which are responsible for the village's charm and beauty and therefore its economic prosperity, are in critical condition and a great many of them are dying. Almost all are diseased. Within the next four or five years at the present rate of mortality there will be very few of our pines left standing in the area west of Junipero and south of 4th which will become a field of bare rooftops and ugly telephone poles. Too many of the pines have been permitted to die in this area already.

I issued a similar warning two and a half years ago in an article in the Carmel Pine Cone because I felt there was no community in the world where the trees on the city streets were as important as they are in Carmel. As it was in the beginning the cornerstone of Carmel's natural beauty is its lovely combination of native pines and oaks. Since then, as I predicted, the death and deterioration, especially of the pines, has continued. The effect is evident in the increasing ugliness of the skyline. Some $100,000 worth of city trees have died and been removed at a cost to the city of from $7,000 to $10,000. I could have saved most of these for little more than it cost to remove them. The loss in the next five years will be about $300,000.

The city's tree program is obviously ineffective. The infant trees the city is planting to replace the magnificent ones it has allowed to perish will be no replacement at all, at least not in our lifetime. The loss of the village skyline will be a staggering blow to the beauty of Carmel and the tree-topped panorama will be gone soon, Gentlemen, unless you do something about it.

The gas saw snarls daily, and time is short. The taxpayers of Carmel have a tangible investment in its beauty and deserve to have it protected. I am sure they would rather have their trees

CARMEL AT HOLLISTER FRIDAY NIGHT

It's David and Goliath at Hollister Friday night when Carmel, the smallest school in the league, matches football talent with Hollister, the largest school in the CCAL B-division. Undeclared in two league games to date, the Padres will be going all out to get over the rough Hollister squad and keep their chances alive for a shot at the B-league title. Hollister was nipped by King City, 6 to 0, last Friday night but it took a blocked kick to dent the strong defensive play of the big Haybalers. The Hollister junior-varsity also fell victims to the King City Jayvees by a 13-0 count.

Coach Fred Rainer's high-flying junior-varsity will go into action against the Hayseeds with Jamie Holman and Nick Vertin at the ends; John and Chris Wilkin, tackles; Van Treat and Doug McClurg, guards; Harrison Hilbert, center; Tim or Craig Smith, quarterback; Mike Marquard, fullback; and halfbacks Chips Wood and Pete Willcox.

Carmel's varsity will go with an offensive unit of Bill Hicks and Pat Harney, ends; Fred Nelson and Hal Gregerson, tackles; Joe Mason and Neil Giarratana, guards; Parker Pollock, center; Cim Conway, quarterback; Ted Smith and Andy Gray, halfbacks; and Bob Goldwater at fullback. The defensive squad will be manned by Alf Anderson and Art Wilkerson, ends; Norman Colman and Phil Durbrow, tackles; Joe Mason and Al Eaker, guards; John Morse and Parker Pollock, linebackers; Pete Phillips and Bud Conroy, halfbacks; and Ted Smith at safety.

While Carmel and Hollister are battling it out at Hollister, another league crucial will be taking place at Gilroy where undefeated King City takes on the surprising Gilroy Mustangs. At Gonzales, the Spartans will try to bounce back at the expense of the Live Oak Lions.

X-RAY UNIT HERE MONDAY

Free chest X-rays will be given by the Monterey County Health Department on Monday afternoon from 1:00-5:00 o'clock when the county's mobile X-ray unit will be parked near the Carmel post office. After plates are read by the health department, postcards announcing the result are mailed to those who have availed themselves of this public service.

PADRE ELEVEN'S SWAMP GONZALES

Taking advantage of all the breaks, Carmel High's varsity and junior-varsity football squads romped to a pair of victories over the visiting Gonzales High grid-ders last Saturday afternoon. The Padre jayvees did a workmanlike job on the Little Spartans, 33 to 6, while the Big Padres clipped the Spartan varsity, 45 to 0. The heavy scoring in both games was largely due to Spartan miscues which were turned into touchdowns by the Red and Gray grid-ders. Blocked punts, recovered fumbles, and intercepted passes were the most important items in the Carmel offense during the afternoon of football.

Jamie Holman, Mike Marquard, Frank Mayo, Toby Edson, Fred Bucher, and Greg Nielsen got into the scoring act for the Carmel junior-varsity. Fine forward passing by the Smith boys, Craig and Tim, gave the Little Padres a potent air arm which moved over the Gonzales defenders whenever the quarterbacks put the ball upstairs. A trio of elusive halfbacks, Chips Wood, Ron Faia, and Pete Willcox bit off huge chunks of yardage on the ground and set the stage for most of the Padrecito scoring. Up front, it was the steady pressure applied by Doug McClurg, Chris and John Wilkin, Brian LeNeve, and Toby Edson which throttled the Gonzales offense.

The ball bounced right for the Carmel varsity in every instance during the first half of the main event as the Carmel squad piled up a 45-0 lead at the end of the second quarter. A 65-yard punt return by Ted Smith opened the floodgates and the touchdowns came easy after the initial score. Dennis Peavey zipped 28 yards on a quick-opener, Andy Gray took a Ted Smith pass for a 35-yard scoring play, Cim Conway passed 40 yards to Pat Harney for another six-pointer, Bob Goldwater bulled over from the 4 and again from the 11, and Joe Mason pulled the spectacular of the day by taking an attempted punt from the foot of the kicker and running 20 yards for a score. Seven touchdowns plus three successful conversion kicks by Ted Smith gave the Red and Gray a commanding lead which they nursed during the entire second half.

Carmel's sturdy defense, spear-headed by Joe Mason, Dennis Peavey, and Phil Durbrow, held the Spartans to 42 yards on the ground and 28 yards in the air. Alert pass defense saw the Padres pick off five Spartan aeriels, Parker Pollock grabbing two with Steve Gann, Cim Conway, and Joe Mason getting one apiece. Dennis Peavey was Carmel's top ball carrier, averaging better than 12 yards per carry besides playing an outstanding game at the defensive left half position. Carmel's punt runbacks by Ted Smith behind the devastating blocking of the forward wall played a large part in the first half. The swift King City transfer averaged better than 30 yards per kick return and set up three of the Padre scores with his brilliant open field running.

Next league action for the Padre grid-ders comes tomorrow night when they journey to Hollister for a doubleheader with the Haybalers. Junior-varsity play is slated for 6:00 o'clock with the varsity squads taking over at 8:00.

CLEAT MARKS

Bill Abbey's MPC Lobos notched their initial win of the current season last Saturday night, whipping the American River JC out of Sacramento. Big, burly, and equipped with loads of latent power, the Lobos could well be the surprise team of the Coast JC conference. The Lobo backs run hard, the passing is better than average, and the blocking is crisp and hard. A leaky pass defense and weak flank protection hurt the Lobos in their first two games which they dropped to Visalia and Glendale. Tomorrow night Coach Abbey goes for the big one when the Lobos invade San Jose to take on heavily-favored San Jose JC. Not only is San Jose favored to win the Coast JC title, Coach Fred Silva's charges are already beating the drums for the Little Rose Bowl. Nice chance for the Lobos to play the spoiler role.

Carmel High's coaching staff is anxiously awaiting the return of Henry Overin, Carmel's professional baseball hurler who is en-route home from taking in the World Series. During the off-season, Overin doubles as a football scout for the Carmel squads. The ex-Padre athletic great is especially good at doping the Gilroy and Pacific Grove teams so the Padres are wishing him a speedy trip home from New York.

Carmel High's lightweight team makes its debut this afternoon at Bardarson Field, taking on the San Lorenzo Valley Cougars in a 4:00 o'clock game. The little sprouts have put in long hours of practice under the watchful eyes (Continued on Page Eleven) received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1932. His father was at that time teaching vocational guidance in the Kamehameha School for Boys (it is an interesting note that later in life Paul taught in both Punahou Academy and Kamehameha). Upon graduation from Stanford Paul returned to the Islands and married Dell Henning, a visitor there from San Jose, California.

"Dell and I agreed that the 'itching foot' is the happy one, and we took off to the Orient to seek our fortunes. That was when I became branch manager for United Artists and responsible for the distribution of British and American films throughout southern Japan and Korea. We found the Japanese a fascinating people, but there was an undercurrent of unrest and suspicion of foreigners even then. I wanted to work for my Doctorate, so after two years we returned to the States.

"In 1935 we opened our suitcases and 'settled down' at the Hopkins Marine Station at Pacific Grove. We were blissfully happy because the Peninsula held many warm associations for us both. Dell had come here many times as a child, and her family knew their Monterey Peninsula."

Paul was awarded his Master's degree at Stanford in 1936. His thesis was embryology; his interest, the implantation of live bait in the area surrounding Pearl Harbor. He knew that should war come (as it unhappily did 11 years later) that the sources of bait in the Harbour would be closed; and the ancient fish ponds had fallen into decay. In 1940 his treatise was published in book form by the Stanford University Press and won wide interest amongst scientists and conservationists.

"The Islands had an irresistible call for us," Paul continued, "and in 1937 we found ourselves living on the slope of Haleskala, on the Island of Maui. For three years I taught Science in the two schools with which my father had been associated during my boyhood. In 1940 I became Personnel Officer for the U. S. Navy Air Bases contractors in the Pacific.

"And on December 7, 1941, that fateful Sunday, we watched the sinking of the Fleet, from our home on Aiea Heights above Pearl Harbour. Tragedy, panic and confusion reigned, and in our house was our first daughter, Carla, just a few days old."

Dell Budd told the story of those first months of war, "There were alerts all day and all night. Paul was called to the Harbour, and for hours at a stretch I didn't know where he was. We all expected further bombing and tried to get necessities together for whatever might befall. Many frightened plantation workers rushed to our American homes for protection and reassurance. I made endless lots of sandwiches and pots of tea, 'round the clock. Paul headed the Navy civilian personnel for the defense of the Islands. We remained at Pearl Harbour to the end of the war. We had plenty of food, but I can't say that we were happy through the long months of black-outs."

"In 1940 the 14th Naval District had 6000 employees," Paul took up the story, "When we left in '47 there were 35,000. It was in 1947 that fortune really smiled for the Budds. I was transferred to the mainland and became Civilian Personnel Director at Fort Ord where I've been ever since."

"You've left something out," Dell interrupted, "our second daughter Niki came along in 1944. She was born in the same little Plantation Hospital on Aiea Heights, as Carla was."

Carla is now a junior at Carmel High, and Niki is a senior at Sunset School. Paul and Dell planned and built their home on San Antonio. It is a lovely free-form sort of house, and its ivy covered garden wall shields an exquisite Japanese garden. Japanese gardens with their centuries of tradition and symbolism are a hobby of Paul's and he has accepted commissions for the planning of several in California. Their home is named Nautilus (many chambered shell).

Of his stupendous "housekeeping" responsibility—plus Fort Ord, he is responsible for the civilian employees of Camp Roberts, San Luis Obispo, Hunter Liggett Reservation and the Fresno Recruit-

Col. T. G. Tousey

Colonel Thomas Grant Tousey (USA ret.) died on Monday night in Fort Ord hospital after a brief illness. He had been a resident of Pebble Beach since 1948, one year after he retired from 30 years service as a medical officer.

Colonel Tousey was born in Pittsford, New York, on March 21, 1885. He graduated from Cornell University School of Medicine in 1906 and practiced as a surgeon in Rochester, New York until 1917 when he entered the Army.

During World War I, Colonel Tousey served overseas with the Sixth Cavalry of the Fourth Division and after the war in the United States and the Philippine Islands where he was assistant chief surgeon under General Douglas MacArthur in 1928-29.

Returning to the United States in the 1930s, Colonel Tousey spent four years at Cornell University Medical School as professor of military science and tactics and later was secretary of the Medical Field School at Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

When World War II began Colonel Tousey was division surgeon with the Sixth Infantry Division and later served in this capacity with the First Division. He commanded Army hospitals at Camp Kilmer, New Jersey; Camp Selby, Mississippi; and Camp Wheeler, Georgia.

Colonel Tousey was author of The Military History of Carlisle and Carlisle Barracks.

After coming here to live Colonel Tousey became a member of All Saints' Episcopal Church and served as a vestryman as well as taking an active interest in other church work.

Survivors are his wife, Margaret Brooks Tousey of Pebble Beach; a son, Thomas G. Tousey Jr. of Carmel; a daughter, Mrs. Merritt B. Booth of Fairhaven, Maryland; two brothers, Clarence Tousey of Rochester, New York, and Louis C. Curtis of Pittsford, New York; four grandchildren, Susan Frances Tousey of Carmel, Mrs. Claggett Wood living in Germany, and ing Station. The troops fluctuate with a top strength in the summer of around 30,000, and it takes a lot of housekeeping to serve them. His staff of 20 has developed a system of personnel management that has won the attention of the Department of Army in Washington, and private industry. "Our Work Force Analysis System is to improve employee utilization and motivation," he said, "We believe that understanding the basic wants and desires of men and women is essential to a better world for us all."

Paul Budd is the only civilian at Fort Ord who is a special staff officer of the commanding General.

Carolyn and Billy Booth of Fairhaven; and one great-grandchild, Susan Catherine Wood of Germany.

Memorial services were held yesterday afternoon in All Saints' Episcopal Church with the Reverend Angus Dun Jr. officiating. Funeral services and burial will be in Arlington Cemetery, Arlington, Virginia.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of local arrangements.

Friends wishing to make donations in memory of Colonel Tousey may do so in the form of contributions to the building fund of All Saints' Church.

STOUMEN TO FILM MARCUS STORY

Louis Clyde Stoumen, president of Camera Eye Pictures, Inc. is planning to film a movie here in January based on a story written by Alan Marcus, former MGM script writer.

During a year spent in the Criley house at Carmel Highlands, Alan Marcus met the Balesteri family of Monterey and his story tells how this close knit Sicilian family of fishermen, hunters, and party lovers revolutionized a neighbor's way of life.

"A kind of film such as never made in this country before," is the way Stoumen describes his proposed picture.

Stoumen was here last weekend to attend the local showing of his prize-winning documentary film on photography, The Naked Eye, which features the life and artistic development of famed Carmel Highlands photographer Edward Weston.

Council Refuses To Go To Bat For Chedester-Aebersold

At a special meeting Tuesday night three members of Carmel's four-man City Council balked at assisting Paul E. Chedester and Robert A. Aebersold in their court fight to get an off sale liquor license for the premises on Sixth and Torres.

City Attorney John Morse urged that the council pass a resolution that the Chedester and Aebersold proposal to operate a drug store with liquor sales subordinate would put them in conformity with the ordinance. If they get their liquor license on the argument that it is in conformity with the ordinance, then their first proposition, that the ordinance is invalid will "probably become moot." "We thus avoid a test of the ordinance," Morse said.

After several hours of technical discussion among Morse, Carmel Martin, Jr., representing Aebersold and Chedester, and Albert Wilson, representing the Carmel Protective Association, which is prepared to fight the new proposal as well as to defend the ordinance, the council voted three to one against Morse's proposed resolution: Allen Knight, Carl Patnude and Jim Buffington, "no." John Chitwood, "yes."

Case comes up for hearing October 25 at 1:30 o'clock in Salinas.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Pages From Gay's Diary

Carmelite Gay Kuster shares some of her year abroad with her friends here in the following pages from her diary. She'll be back in Carmel next month.

I did not become really excited about the prospect of seeing Spain, or reconciled to leaving my beloved London, until the day Ted came back to our flat in Portland Place with a description of the itinerary, complete with the time element. Then I began to break the fetters of our London life; the cosy flat, the view from our bulb-filled bay-window onto the near mews below . . . and across the roof-tops toward Great Portland Street tube station. Then there was the L.C.C. (London County Council) day-nursery due east, where a dozen or so small wrapped bundles were tucked into prams each morning early on a none-too-sheltered roof. Sometimes a pair of pink legs the length of a man's hand would kick free, and accompanying yells would pierce the city's hum. I would stand it for twenty minutes and then pick up the phone. The Council Workers always seemed grateful, and I would then run to the window with our binoculars to see the wee thing taken indoors. So much for our view. There were all the riches of London to hold one: plays, paintings, concerts, cinemas, lectures and just plain rides atop a London bus. There were explorations into the mists of history by way of endless walks. And there was the milky-blue evening light on the Thames, seen through the bare branches of plane trees, as one stepped out of the Tate Gallery at closing time. A red winter sun, sinking behind the Chelsea Embankment, jewelled the windows of the buildings across the river, painting their reflections in the water with flame.

But with only three days to go I started to make lists of Things-to-be-Done. I cancelled three of our five newspapers, also the chicken that arrived every other Friday by post from a Somerset farm and was put straightaway into the oven. I ordered quantities of provisions for Marcia and Elizabeth Gilbert, who were to join forces during our absence: American foods, fruits from Spain and the British West Indies in tins, etc. I started an account for Marcia in Barclays Bank, her first to date, and got the suitcases up from the dungeons below-stairs. Somehow we accomplished the packing, with intermittent rests while we watched a Shaw play, a cricket match or a newscast on "tellie."

With the bulk of the chores done, I dashed down to Kent to see my Scottish aunt. It was a chill wind that day, for Kent is nearer the Channel than London and the gales whip around from the North Sea, and it is hard to remember that this busy little town of Tunbridge Wells was once a "spa" famous for its iron springs, where "ladies and gentlemen of fashion" came to "take the waters" during the reign of George the Third.

The next night we were off. Liz Gilbert and Marcia waved and sign-languaged to us through the bars of the station platform at Victoria, and we made responses against the windowpane of our train. Liz crossed her heart and, pointing to Marcia, made a sleeping gesture of head on folded hands. Ted and I applauded heartily, for Marcia's little oval face was pale with fatigue. We watched the two of them, swathed in duffle coats and mittens, friends since kindergarten days in Carmel — "the Long and Short of it," we used to call them, — waving and wacing until the angle took them out of sight.

Going over Westminster Bridge, which our train did as soon as it emerged from the station, the bridge-towers, slow barges, cranes etc., all were lighted eerily. But the Houses of Parliament, Westminster Abbey and Big Ben, the latter just then striking the hour of nine, were fast fading into a diffused background of milky fog. All this was clutchingly beautiful. I always wish a train would wait just for two minutes on a bridge like Westminster so that everyone could sew firmly into memory the beauty of the scene . . . especially the pattern of lights on water.

After this we gathered speed. It was too dark to see out, and I suddenly realized I was perishing with thirst. Besides, we had to stay awake to see our engine's feat of stowing the whole train aboard the "Night Ferry" from Dover to Dunkirk. So we walked the whole length of the train to the restaurant car. The bar beyond, almost empty, was bleak as a hospital corridor. Definitely the wrong atmosphere, yet almost insuring the sale of strong drinks to offset the flagging spirit. It was a long walk for one gin-and-dubonnet (in England the accent on the second syllable) and one lemonade . . . a typical British synthetic colorless carbonated drink. There was one other couple in the bar. She was trying hard to be gay, too hard. And the cold light gave no lustre to her pretty dyed hair as she spoke in the loud slow tones of one addressing a foreigner. He looked a bit of a roue, bags under eyes, I thought. But Ted said I was hard on him. Leaning toward him she said archly, "I expect you've taken lots of women there (a giggle) . . . Oh, I don't mind!" her voice climbing.

At Dover we left the train as soon as possible to see the fun. The ship, in its lock, was already (Continued on Page Nine)

The Studio, Center For Art, Drama, Dance Opens Next Week

With the opening of a project called simply, The Studio, slated tentatively for October 22, a new cultural center will be added to Carmel and the Monterey Peninsula. The Studio will be a center of creative activities for adults and children with an art gallery and show room for portraits, and age-graded classes taught in the fields of art, dance, and drama. Besides a school in these arts, The Studio plans periodically on bringing figures well known in the art, dance, and drama worlds to lecture, demonstrate, and instruct. Here will be a new center of the performing and graphic arts, and also a studio, open to rentals for others who would like space for a studio, lecture, or dramatic demonstration.

The faculty and staff of The Studio is drawn from professionals working on the Monterey Peninsula, and known for their contributions to the cultural activities of this area. Ruth Austin Ford who did local theatre work, and had her own school in Carmel until 1941, will teach classes in rhythmic modern dance to children three to the 'teen level, and dance-exercise classes for women. Mrs. Ford had her dance training in the school and on tour with the Denishawn Dancers. She also studied with the Mary Wigman, Dresden School in Germany, and with the Moderns, Doris Humphry, Charles Weidman, and Jose Lemmon, in this country. Most recently she has been specializing in young children under the famous Virginia Tanners of Salt Lake City. Assisting Mrs. Ford in her work with children is Elayne Roland who has also studied with Virginia Tanner.

Dale Lefler is teaching classes in ballet tap, modern jazz, and free style technique to beginners as well as more accomplished dancers. Mr. Lefler is well known on the peninsula as both a teacher and theatre dancer. At present he is staff choreographer of the Wharf Theatre, having done the choreography for Pal Joey, Guys and Dolls, and The Pajama Game. He has had extensive study in New York and Hollywood with theatre and motion picture dance directors Jack Cole, Bob Alton, and Hermes Pan. He worked for several years as assistant dance director to Jack Donohue at MGM Pictures where he worked with Doris Day, Red Skelton, Danny Kaye, and many others. In television Mr. Lefler was dance director on the Colgate Comedy Hour.

Children's classes in acting will be held by William Graves with an emphasis on the self-expression and poise to be gained from lessons in pantomime, voice, characterization, and in using the stage. Mr. Graves is experienced in public school teaching, children's and community theatre, and is director with College of Pacific's summer theatre at Fallon House in the ghost town of Columbia, California. These classes will be graded by age and background of the child.

In association with The Studio, Royden Martin will have a gallery and portrait show room, and will at a later date conduct classes in portraiture and fundamentals of painting. Mr. Martin is a member of a pioneer family of Carmel and Carmel Valley, and is noted as a portrait and landscape artist. He studied for three years under George Seideneck, and with the California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco, and is a member of the Carmel Art Association.

The location of The Studio is downtown Carmel on Dolores near Seventh by The Tuck Box. This building has been known in the early days as the old Denny Watrous Gallery, where the Bach Festival was born, and there the "Drunkard" had its first performance. From 1935 to 1955 it was occupied by the Pine Cone.

The building is currently undergoing extensive overhauling and decoration in preparation for the mid-October opening. Information regarding The Studio is available by phoning MAYfair 4-1661 weekdays from 1:00 'til 5:00 o'clock.

DIABLO POETRY CONTEST

A prize of $25 will be given for the best poem entered in the Diablo Valley branch of the National League of American Pen Women contest. The prize, known as the Hazel Schreiber Holmes Memorial Poetry Award, honors Poetry Day, October 15.

The contest is open to any person in the State of California. Poem may be any style or form, not to exceed 42 lines, on an humanitarian or nature theme. Deadline is December 31, 1957. Two original copies are to be sent to Sarah Hammond Kelly, 1885 Alcatraz Ave., Berkeley 3, California. No name or address is to be on the manuscripts but a sealed envelope is to be enclosed with the two copies containing the author's name and address and title of the poem.

The prize will be awarded February 15, 1958. No copies will be returned.

MAIL CLOSES NOW AT 5:00 P.M.

Carmel mails now close at 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon, according to new Postal Department regulations received this week by Acting Postmaster Fred Strong. Letters posted after this time will be postmarked as of 7:00 o'clock the next morning.

Previously mail received after post office closing hours was postmarked for that day until midnight. From now on all income tax, property tax and contest entry deadline mail must be posted before 5:00 o'clock to be postmarked with deadline date, says Mr. Strong.

Beckwith Dancers Present Unusual Performance Here

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

To witness the arts of peoples foreign to our culture is interesting and educational, therefore the ballets of African, Haitian and Trinidad origins at Sunset Auditorium, assembled and trained by Ruth Beckwith, surprised and delighted many with the apparently difficult technique and the atmosphere of native folklore and ritual. To our tamer natures, much of it seemed savage and sensual, expressed with an exuberance of primitive passions, making their dancing an overflow of feeling through their bodies and limbs. The slower movements exhibited a grace that glided or sprang in poetic and even dignified choreography. The whole was punctuated with vital drum-beating by Lionel Samuels, Kenneth Brooks and Ted Swisher, who did unbelievably varied strokes with their hands on the taut goat-skins over tall conical-shaped drums. Varied pitch of the drums gave the effect of some intervals, and their performance was roundly applauded, particularly in their performances without the dancers.

The Limbo dance of Trinidad, in which Al Jones starred with the entire company, was a display of competitive skill in dancing under a low, and lower, barrier, a difficult feat. Depiction of the village life of natives of Southwest Kenya and their energetic dance to banish evil spirits was climaxed by a ceremony of mating for births to replace those of the tribe who had died. This was powerfully enacted by Ruth Beckwith and the entire company.

Torch-bearers descending the aisles of the auditorium to Haitian drum rhythms created an impressive entry for the voodoo sacrificial ceremony of a live chicken, which, of course, was carried off stage unharmed! Ruth Beckwith was supported throughout by the spirited dancing of Al Jones, John Lewis, Betty Carroll, Ann Williams, Barbara Chandler, Clarence Jackson, Robert Taylor, and Clarence Perris. Their contortions were amazingly supple with extraordinary leaps and perpendicular jumps, and it was hard to believe these natives were mostly born in America. Back-stage lighting emphasized the contours of their dark faces and figures in a highly artistic effect of line and grouping. It was all a unique performance brought to the Peninsula by Arlene Turi and Mary Jane Smith-back. It received a fair and enthusiastic audience.

ENTRIES CLOSE SATURDAY CONCOURS D'ELEGANCE

Entries for the eighth annual Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance must be received before Sunday. The Concours will be on November 9 on the lawn of the eighteenth hole of the Pebble Beach Golf Club and the terrace of Del Monte Lodge.

Eleven competitive classes will embrace European and American sports cars, pre-war European and American cars and a vintage class of all cars ante-dating 1915. There will be no charge to view the collection of cars.

Entry blanks may be obtained by writing Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance, Pebble Beach, California.

A. Goodfellow

Arthur William Goodfellow died Saturday in a Gilroy hospital after a long illness. He maintained a home in Pebble Beach for many years and was a member of Cypress Point Club.

Mr. Goodfellow was born in Oakland 78 years ago. He graduated from the University of California and Hastings Law School before becoming a rancher in 1911. Later he owned wheat and cattle land near Fresno and Marysville and in other parts of California.

During his active ranching days, Mr. Goodfellow lived in Fresno and served as one of the city's trustees from 1916-20. He was a charter member of the Sequoia (Sunnyside) Club of Fresno.

Survivors are his widow, Mrs. Katherine Cory Goodfellow of Carmel; a daughter, Mrs. Frank Elton of Beirut, Lebanon; a brother, George Goodfellow of Oakland; a sister, Mrs. Leon de Fremery of San Mateo; and three grandchildren, Rosemary, Frank Jr. and Beverly Elton of Beirut. Funeral services were held on Tuesday in the Albert Brown Mortuary Chapel in Oakland.

3 Bedrooms - 2 Baths - Family Room - New - Near Beach

This well-constructed house has among other things, these features: 3/4" oak floors throughout, with random-width plank in the family room; ash panelling in family room, and ash cabinets in the kitchen; a barbeque in the family room; a Hotpoint range with hood and a Hotpoint oven with rotisserie; glass sliding doors from the family room and master bedroom opening on a very large, protected patio; ceramic tile bathrooms; large laundry room; well located for schools; AND A PARTICULARLY GOOD, ARCHITECT-DESIGNED FLOOR PLAN. The price is definitely right at $27,500.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves,
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

CALIFORNIA'S OUTDOOR RECREATION ACT

At the recent session of the California Legislature a bill was passed (A. B. 32), known as the Public Outdoor Recreation Plan Act. It provided for a committee to administer the plan, composed of the Director of the State Department of Natural Resources as chairman, with representatives from several other state departments as members. This committee has now announced the appointment of Mr. Elmer Aldrich as Executive Officer with a three-year tenure, at the end of which time the report on California's outdoor recreation problem will be completed.

Mr. Aldrich is at present Supervisor of Conservation Education for the State Department of Beaches and Parks. It is a cause for satisfaction among conservationists that a man with experience in conservation work has been chosen for this important position. Mr. Aldrich is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Sierra Club, and thus is well qualified to know the viewpoint of the 12,000 members of this important outdoor recreation and conservation organization.

The purpose of this project, as described in a recent issue of News and Views, monthly publication of the Division of Beaches and Parks, is to make a "study and inventory of all outdoor recreation facilities, both public and private; and recommendations to the Legislature for adoption of an integrated plan to guide legislation for the development of outdoor recreational facilities throughout the State".

There is no question about the urgency of such a study. Recent statistics released by the Census Bureau show that California will have a population of approximately 20 million by 1970, just about doubling the 1950 figure. Planning of this kind should of course look forward much farther than the ten years following the publication of the report. Just what the "foreseeable future", specified in the Act, is remains to be seen but there is no question about the great conflict between coming recreational needs and commercial exploitation of the land of the state.

The U. S. Forest Service recently completed a very extensive and costly Timber Resources Review, projecting the timber needs of the country up to the year 2,000. A bill was introduced in Congress, bogged down in a House Committee to provide for a comparable Outdoor Recreation Resources Review. The California plan will thus precede any national effort of the same kind, even if the bill should pass in the next Congress.

So far as nationally-owned lands are concerned, the most debatable questions that will arise as a result of the California survey will concern the use of the national lands. Should a larger proportion of them than is presently available be ear-marked for recreational needs? In the case of the recent Forest Service decision in the Three Sisters Wilderness in Oregon, a strong negative answer was given to that question.

Our timber needs for the future can be met, either by finding substitutes or by increasing private harvests, which already supply much more than half of the total. Recreation is expanding much faster than timber growth on government-owned lands.

BISSANTZ TRAVELOGUE AT CIRCLE

In its Peninsula Personalities evening series, the Circle Theatre will again present architect-photographer Edgar Bissantz in his illustrated travelogue Beautiful Italy at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday evening. The talk is being repeated in response to many requests by persons who were unable to attend the previous event.

The travelogue will be followed by refreshments and a social hour.

In the course of the lecture, the speaker will project 300 large color slides which he made in Italy during recent travels. These will include 100 views of Venice and many of Sicily and Capri.

Tickets are available in advance at the Browse-Around Music Shop in Carmel. The benefit charge, which includes refreshments, will be used for equipment and maintenance of the Circle Theatre.

Talk Monday Night On Retirement Home, Rogue Valley Manor

A place, and a way to retire will be discussed Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church, by Walter M. Higgins, director of the Rogue Valley Manor, Medford, Oregon and Melvin N. Hogan, president of the Manor corporation.

Rogue Valley Manor, which is sponsored by a non-profit State chartered corporation and backed by the Presbyterian, Methodist and Episcopal Churches in Oregon, is a modern Christian home, for people of moderate means.

Each of the 284 apartments that are in the Manor will be a complete living unit. Most of the apartments will have kitchenettes in addition to the central dining room offered as part of the Manor Membership.

Among the central facilities for all members will be an auditorium, a chapel, post office, lounges, a 40-bed infirmary staffed by registered nurses and a doctor in scheduled attendance and always on call, hobby shops, club and game rooms and all manner of recreational facilities both in and outside of the Manor.

The Manor will be located within the city limits of Medford atop a small hill in the Rogue River Valley. The gardens and outdoor activities on the 15 acres of grounds will be available for all members.

Membership in the Manor may be obtained by the interested person by procuring the Life-Use right of the apartment they like best and then giving assurance of some monthly income regularly. The Manor offers service which enables retired (or semi-retired) people to be independent of family care even when they are no longer physically able to care for themselves.

NEED PRINTING?

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Elizabeth McLane

Mrs. Elizabeth Price McLane died Sunday afternoon in a local hospital after a short illness. She had lived in Carmel for three years coming here from Fresno after the death of her husband Charles Lourie McLane, president of Fresno State College.

Mrs. McLane was born in Clay county, Missouri, and was a teacher at Fresno State College before her marriage. She was a member of the Carmel Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are a brother, Eben R. Price of Santa Barbara; a niece, Mrs. Nathaniel Pachall of Pasadena; and three grandnephews.

Memorial services were held on Tuesday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea with Dr. Joseph M. Ewing, pastor of the Carmel Presbyterian Church officiating.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

"7 minutes on the job...saves my wife hours of drudgery"

California Fish and Game biologist, Elden Vestal, figures it takes him just 7 minutes' work to provide his home with 24 hours of gas and electricity.

"I wish everything was that reasonable. When you think of all the work gas and electricity do in our house, 7 minutes of my time seems little enough to pay for such a necessity." (The Vestals' Fresno home is equipped with 41 appliances.) Mr. Vestal makes a good point: with gas and electricity so cheap in California, you can afford to use more of it. Most people do... that's why your P. G. and E. bill may be higher than in years past. Yet the price of a unit of P. G. and E. gas and electricity is actually 1/3 lower today than in 1936. Can you think of anything else that costs less than it did 21 years ago?

THE ALMUG TREE

Who polish the alizarin to a gleamed
Ceylon smoothness surrender to hands of them
Garnet as old wine — the Almug tree
Obdurate, lasting as the Law of Moses,
Perfected for the souls of them to look
Upon in solemn quiet; holding in altar,
And temple-furniture every tone
Incarnate in frondic, green-spun forestry:
In its live-bough bird-movement, honey-bee,
Tick of burrowing worm, and silent wings
Have brought a supple oneness like green hope,

As though from glossed wood speaking a Trinity
Flowered charity temples for faith
The shaped heartwood fragrantly preserved
From generous leaf of staunch, red Almug tree.
—VERA LA CLAUSTRA.

FOR THOSE WHO LOVED A CHILD

How shall we speak
With those who walk
In shadow where lately
There was sun?
What word to fall
Like rain
Upon the arid fields
Of grief?

Only this to believe—
A young growth opens Fully,
In perpetual light.
—ALICE MOORE REGAN.

TAKE THE DIRT ROAD

Go, like a gypsy — barefoot, brown,
Digging toes in dust. Hurry down!
Shout the rude wind back to the glen shove the wind back. Run up again!

On hands and knees crawl under a gate;
sit down by a pool, where silver fins wait and flash in sun; walk lazy, zig-zag;
touch the green coolness; play shadow-tag.

Step gently, stop — one heart-beat still — and listen to trees bending with chill;
and hear how Spring pushes the ground — the lifting, cracking, growing sound.

Climb to a mountain; hold the blue calm of space, of time, within your palm;
recite your prayers with a rosary of a million stars — quietly...

Go! Fill your pockets with fantasy-bread;
nor carry a name; find a dream for your bed.
Pluck the good hours! Let the wind roll!
Red wine in your cup... White wings for your soul...
—OLIVIA YOUNG.

Federmans Honeymoon Here

Stan and Lorrie Federman of Milwaukie, Oregon, near Portland, are honeymooning here until Friday. They drove from San Francisco early in the week and delightfully discovered Carmel.

Stan is general manager of two weekly newspapers in Oregon and Lorrie is on leave from school teaching responsibilities. Stan is interested, as a newspaperman, in the fight in Carmel to keep tight zoning controls and preserve the beauty and nature of the community.

"I would love to live here," he admitted, "though the Carmel shops are so attractive I know I would never save any money."

Also interested in little theatre, the Federmans were impressed by the number of active amateur groups we have in this area.

Dr. Shutes At High Twelve

The Emotional Life of Abraham Lincoln will be discussed by Dr. Milton Shutes at the High Twelve Club luncheon Friday in Sampatti's restaurant. All regular Masons are invited to attend.

Dr. Shutes, nationally known authority and author of two books on Lincoln, has turned his hobby of studying the life of Lincoln into a full time occupation since retiring from active medical practice and coming to Carmel to live.

Millar, Mazzi At Guild Tea

Conductor Gregory Millar and concertmaster Francesco Mazzi will present the pre-concert program at the Symphony Guild Tea on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in All Saints' Parish Hall, according to Guild president Mrs. Burton Doolittle. Also Father H. M.M. Nicholas, first violinist and Symphony board member, will talk about organization and personnel of the Monterey County Symphony.

Mrs. Jack Miller is general chairman for the affair assisted by Mrs. Loran Lisle, Jr. Tea details are the responsibility of Mrs. Churchill Carmalt and Mrs. Walter Phelps Jr. Hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. Frank Bray, Mrs. Douglas Graham and Mrs. Stanley Spencer. Mrs. F. L. Wallace is in charge of table decorations and Mrs. E. Blair Hackney, Mrs. Nelson Miles Leoni and Mrs. D. MacMillan Kerr will preside at the tea table. Invitations have been sent out by Mrs. Joseph McKay and Mrs. Donald Smythe but all persons interested in the Symphony are asked to attend the pre-concert tea and program says Mrs. Smythe, in charge of publicity. There is no admission charge and Symphony Guild membership is not a requirement for attendance. First Symphony concert this year is on November 4 at Sunset Auditorium.

Theatre Arts Ball November 30

The Theatre Arts Ball at Del Monte Lodge will climax the Monterey Peninsula American National Theatre Arts Festival November 22-30. Mrs. Nelson Miles Leoni is chairman for the costume ball with John and Patricia Cunningham as co-sponsors. Working on the committee for the affair are Mrs. Thomas Christian, Mrs. John Phillips, Mrs. Edgar Bissantz, Mrs. David Gill, Mrs. R. S. Hunton, Mrs. Gallatin Powers, Mrs. August Armanasco, Mrs. Charles Strohnider, Miss Sally Reichard, Miss Caryl Thomas, Mrs. Sam Karas, Mrs. Martin Flavin, Mrs. James Hatlo, Mrs. Jane Parker, Mrs. C. A. Chappell, Mrs. Charles O'Gara, Mrs. Walter Lamb, Mrs. Alma Walker Coe and Mrs. Betsy Pye.

Major Donaldson Joins 6211th

Major Wayne N. A. Donaldson is now attached to the 6211th Army Reserve Unit at Fort Ord. He and his wife Yvonne came to Carmel to live a little over a year ago from Fort Lawton, Washington. Major Donaldson's last station before leaving the Army for the second time.

After his first tour of active service, ending in 1948, he came to Carmel and was an architectural designer for Crescent Construction Company. Called back into the Army in 1951 he was stationed in Germany and there met his wife, a professional photographer. They were later married in America. Major Donaldson is now personnel manager for California Packing Corporation.

Hudsons Return From Orient

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hudson have returned from a flying trip to Hong Kong, Japan, fishing on Wake Island, and Honolulu where they attended the wedding of Mrs. Hudson's godchild Mary Flanders and Douglas Philpotts. This week their daughter Mrs. John C. Walker (Sydney Hudson) and her infant twin daughters are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hudson.

Parties For New Residents

Admiral and Mrs. Harvey Overesch moved last week into their recently acquired Pebble Beach home. On Saturday night they were guests of honor at a dinner party given by Colonel and Mrs. Paul Winslow and on Sunday at a luncheon given by Mr. and Mrs. S.F.B. Morse at River Ranch. Admiral Overesch was until recently attached to the American Embassy in London.

Off To Camp

The middle playfield at Sunset School was piled with bedding and baggage on Monday morning when sixth grade pupils taught by Miss Mary Lee Desmond and Mr. Harry Walcott gathered for the trip to school camp at Jones Gulch, La Honda. They will return on Friday from the Y.M.C.A. campsite in the Santa Cruz mountains. This is the second group of sixth grade campers from Sunset School to spend a week learning outdoors this year.

Kim "Just What They Wanted"

Kim Alyce Whitcomb, born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on October 7, is just what her sisters Jill, seven and a half, and Lonnie, five years old, wanted. Kim's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kent Whitcomb. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Orley Holm of Carmel and Mr. George Whitcomb of Partington Ridge.

Stewart Edward Week Old Today

Mr. and Mrs. William Pilkenton's first son and second child was born on October 10 in the Peninsula Community Hospital. He has been named Stewart Edward after author Stewart Edward White, a relative of his mother's.

Stewart's sister, Kim, was born 20 months ago in "an English up country hospital" and Mrs. Pilkenton thinks having a baby in Carmel is "just heaven" says her husband, public relations director for the Monterey Peninsula Convention Bureau and Special Events.

Grandparents of the new baby are Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Feek of Carmel and Mrs. Ruth K. Pilkenton of Glen Ellyn, Illinois.

This Week At Town House

On Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, the speaker at Carmel Foundation Town House will be Mrs. George Young, and her subject: Why Read Poetry? Mrs. Young should have the answers, for she is a member of the Arena Blanca Chapter, Chaparral Poets, as well as of the Writers Club of Carmel. She teaches poetry writing in the Carmel Adult Evening School.

A new class in woodcarving has begun at Town House with Mr. N. L. Crookston as instructor. The time is 10:30 o'clock on Tuesday mornings and there is still time to start with the group either as a beginner or as a more advanced student.

Stamp Club Plans Dinner

Meeting in the Carmel High School last Monday, the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club, presided over by Colonel John R. Wright, discussed plans for the annual dinner and election of officers.

Colonel William B. Graham, chairman of the dinner arrangements, reported that the dinner will be held November 3, at 2:00 o'clock in Pine Inn. Reservations may be made at the next meeting of the club, October 21.

Phil Kearney of Pebble Beach and Tom Arnold of Carmel Highlands won the door prizes. E. R. Blankenship auctioned material enough for "a fortune in stamps." With his usual good humor, Blankenship ran up the bids and the bargains.

Colonel Wright, president, announced that the next meeting will be a "Trading" session. All stamp collectors on the Monterey Peninsula are welcome to bring their stock books and enjoy a "swap" session. Refreshments will be served. The date is October 21 at 8:00 o'clock in the Carmel High School.

Lesley Ann Miller Born

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Dean Miller's second daughter, Lesley Ann, weighed seven pounds, eight ounces when she was born at the Monterey Hospital on October 5. The Miller's older daughter, Melinda is 18 months old.

Lesley's grandparents are Mrs. Helen Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Miller all of Carmel.

Dinner For Miss Lindsay-Oliver

Mrs. Grace Howden entertained at a dinner party on Sunday evening in honor of Miss Mary Lindsay-Oliver who has returned to Carmel after a summer in Washington, D.C. Sharing party honors with Miss Oliver was Robert Kent, to whom guests sang "Happy Birthday" when a large cake was carried in by John Cunningham. During the evening Jerry Hobbs sang two songs accompanied by Miss Oliver and colored slides of Mrs. Howden's recent world trip were shown to those present by George Seideneck. Miss Oliver wore an orchid corsage presented to her by Mrs. Howden. Mr. Kent received a red rose boutonniere and Mrs. Kent a matching rose corsage. Mr. Barnet Segal won the "door prize", a vase presented to him by Mrs. Howden to be used in his new office.

Others invited to Mrs. Howden's home Sunday evening were Mrs. George Seideneck, Mr. Nelo Drizari, Mrs. John Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Titus, Mrs. Georgia Bamford, Mrs. Kay Paradise, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Blout, Mrs. Fenton Grigsby, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Godard, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ross, Dr. John MacWillie, Mr. and Mrs. Abel Warshawsky, Mr. and Mrs. Rene Lavenant, Mrs. Mary Louise Waterbury, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wheeler, Dr. and Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Rolleston West, Miss Dorette Mueller, Mr. and Mrs. Zenas L. Potter and Miss Dorothy Skinner.

Lynn Downes Born October 12

"Chuck has a little girl," was the news teenage Church of the Wayfarer C-Bee members were telephoning about on Saturday morning. Chuck is Charles S. Downes, popular leader of the youth group. The new baby has been named Lynn Allison and is Mr. and Mrs. Downes fourth child. Their other children are Yates, seven years old; Gail, four and a half; and Kelley, one and a half.

Chuck brought Mrs. Downes and Lynn home from the Peninsula Community Hospital yesterday morning and is taking a week's vacation from his youth activity work at the church to help Mrs. Downes take care of the family.

"I'm not so good in front of a stove," he admitted just before he left for the hospital, "but we'll manage."

Lynn's grandparents are Mrs. Elinor S. Downes of Baltimore, Maryland, and Mr. James A. Lewis of Spartansburg, South Carolina.

Back From Santa Barbara

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Abernethy returned to Carmel on Friday after two weeks in Santa Barbara visiting Mr. Abernethy's sister Miss Carrie Abernethy.

"Mr. Abernethy played golf every day at the Montecito Country Club while we were there," says Mrs. Abernethy.

This week the Abernethys are entertaining Mr. Abernethy's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Abernethy of Coalinda.

Lee Crowe Has Guests

Staying with Lee Crowe at his home in Carmel are his sister, Mrs. John Ross, and her friends, Mrs. George Watt, both from Brantford, Ontario, Canada.

Lee went to Vancouver to meet his visitors and with them explored Vancouver Island and Victoria before driving to Carmel by the coast route arriving here two weeks ago.

Back From Honeymoon Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Gasper Cardinale are at home in Monterey in the new home they purchased prior to their marriage, after a wedding trip that took them to Las Vegas and Hollywood. The bridegroom is employed in Carmel at James Rowe's Village Shoe Tree. His bride, the former Carmela Di Maggio, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Di Maggio of Monterey.

Carmela and Gasper were married at a nuptial mass at San Carlos Church in Monterey on October 6, with the Reverend John F. Eastman performing the ceremony. White stock, gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the interior of the historic church. For her wedding the bride chose a long torso gown of lace over satin with a cathedral train, long sleeves, and seed pearls adorning the neckline. Pearls also were used on the lace crown of her fingertip veil. Her bridal bouquet was of white orchids and white lilies of the valley.

Anna Allioti was maid of honor, and the three bridesmaids were Phyllis Allioti, Kay Milazzo and Carol Ann Rhoades.

The bridegroom's brother, Joe Cardinale, was best man, while the bride's two brothers, Leonard and John Di Maggio, were ushers, along with Buster Billante.

Following the noon rites, a dinner at Biff's was held for family members and the wedding party. At an evening reception, given in the exhibit hall of the Monterey County Fairgrounds, the newlyweds greeted more than seven hundred of their friends.

Gasper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincenzo Cardinale of Monterey. Both Carmela and Gasper were graduated from Monterey Union High School.

Bells Have Three Daughters

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell have three daughters since the birth of Paula Theresa on October 8. Their older daughters are Peggy, three, and Patricia, 22 months old.

Paula weighed six pounds, 11 ounces when she arrived at the Peninsula Community Hospital. Her grandparents are Mrs. Harold Studevant of Carmel and Colonel and Mrs. Jonathan Rigdon of Richland, Washington.

Home From Walking In Europe

Henry Dunakin is back in Carmel after six months in Europe, "mostly walking," he says. Starting in London and continuing on the continent, Mr. Dunakin studied architecture, walking each day till he got tired, stopping for the night in the nearest town or village, and setting out again next morning. Romanesque buildings in Southern France, Spain and Italy he found particularly interesting and plans to visit Tuscany for further study of this type of building on his next trip abroad.

"This foot tour was just learning how to walk in preparation for my next exploration," he says.

Mr. Dunakin also attended operatic performances in Rome, Naples, Salzburg and Munich. At the Wiesbaden Opera Festival his friend Marilyn Hall was head soprano. Miss Hall formerly sang with the San Francisco Opera Company and has visited Carmel. Incidentally she is billed on German programs as Maria Hall.

"They wouldn't use Marilyn," says Mr. Dunakin, "they thought that name associated with someone called Munroe."

In Spain the music especially interesting to Henry Dunakin were the zarzuelas, Spain's answer to Viennese operettas.

In San Francisco For Opera

Mrs. Burdorf Doolittle, president of the Monterey County Symphony Guild, and Mrs. James Hatlo return to Carmel today from San Francisco, where, on Tuesday night, they attended the San Francisco Opera's twenty-fifth anniversary performance of Tosca.

Pages From Gay's Diary . . .

raised to the exact level of the train, so that the tracks on both ship and pier coincided. Ted pointed out that it might easily have been high tide, in which case the lock would have lowered the ship to meet the tracks. The train went on in two sections, pushed by that wonderful Diesel engine we'd seen briefly at Victoria station, and these sat side by side on the ship's lower deck, but the engine was left behind. We watched while the cars were batted down with huge chains, eight to each side of the carriage. And after roaming over the ship, the night air of the Channel sent me, at least, hurrying down to our berths in the train. We gulped our anti-seasick dramamine with the last unboiled water we would drink until we returned to England. We began to roll in less than an hour, and I didn't sleep until we reached Dunkirk and were chugging along on land again.

Approaching Paris in the morning all the roofs . . . of houses and trains . . . were snow or frost covered. The whole atmosphere of the station, the Gare du Nord, was comically different from London. Our night porter, who was actually a car conductor too, shook hands gravely with his friends the station porters, who trooped through the train dressed like members of a chorus in a light opera: blue smocks, caps and little brown aprons. They attacked the baggage and, opening the windows, threw it down to waiting colleagues on the platform, who piled it into their carts. The air of the city was a biting but not a penetrating cold. In color Paris is many tones lighter than London. One returns to it with affection, no matter how slight the previous acquaintance, for it is true there is "something about Paris" that is charming and exciting at the same time.

The shops in the Rue St. Honore were as arresting as when they first ensnared me in 1928: George Jensen, Caron, Lenthéric . . . The Hotel de France et Choiseul, looking shabbier than when we'd stayed there last fall, was a sweet old thing to return to . . . with its courtyard and potted vines, tall velvet-and-lace-hung windows and squeaky, uneven floors. We had a still-early breakfast, "complet" which means incomplete with bad coffee and good crescent rolls, and then went to sleep to finish off the night. Later, in the American Express . . . a little world all its own in the Rue Scribe . . . we heard plenty of home voices, and even saw one tall "pardner" in a ten-gallon hat and leather jacket. I'd like to have trailed him into the Place Vendome, or wherever he was bound, and listened to his comments or his efforts to be understood. But Ted had other plans. We went to the Citroen place . . . to gaze. The gleaming black car with the sleek flowing line, at-which crowds had stood and wondered last August in this same window, was now flanked by twins in lighter hues. A circuitous walk home, after lunch at the Rotisserie de la Reine Pedauque, was interrupted by a sudden shower and a cognac. Ted says that the nicest moment of the day was when, from our sidewalk table, we saw everyone in those four intersections by the Cafe de la Paix quickly put up umbrellas and run for cover. The shiny streets were all at once gay with colorful moving mushroom shapes.

CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The vital necessity of individual application of the teachings of Christ Jesus will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement" is the Golden Text from Psalms (80:19): "Turn us again, O Lord God of hosts, cause thy face to shine; and we shall be saved."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (25:26-31): "Implicit faith in the Teacher and all the emotional love we can bestow on him, will never alone make us imitators of him. We must go and do likewise, else we are not improving the great blessings which our Master worked and suffered to bestow upon us."

of coaches Paul Morlang, Bob Shirley, and Jerry Stuefloten and are anxiously awaiting the kickoff for their first game. Manned by freshmen for the most part, the lightweights vary in size from 90 to 135 pounds but each has 200 pounds of enthusiasm...

Football fans who notice the men in the striped shirts who throw the markers and blow the whistles in the prep games will recognize three ex-Padres calling the decisions in the CCAL this season. The three Carmel men who are doing excellent work as whistle-tooters this season are Lew McCreery, Art Harber, and Don Canham. Equipped with football experience, keen eyesight, and used to making quick decisions, the ex-Carmel High gridgers should develop into topflight grid officials...

The Monterey Peninsula could be harboring the best prep football player in Northern California in the person of Claude Crabb, Monterey High's brilliant quarterback. This lad can do everything expected of a football player and has that extra something which makes his teammates play their best. In Monterey High's four wins this season, the swift senior has been used just long enough to sew up the games and then retires to the bench to contemplate the next game coming up. Big test for Crabb and his mates comes this Friday night at Salinas when Monterey takes on the undefeated Cowboys. The Cowboys spoiled two undefeated records in the last two weeks, dropping Bellarmine after the Bells had won 24 straight and clipping Larry Seimer's Santa Cruz Cardinals after the Cards had won three straight this season.

Earlier this year I made a hasty study of the source of our local tax income which indicated that about 80 percent of it came from the home owners while about 80 percent of the city's expenditures went to service the business district. These latter expenditures could be curtailed for the benefit of the trees which in turn will benefit everybody.

I would not offer to save and rehabilitate our trees were it not for the fact which I point out in all modesty, that there is no one else in this part of the country either prepared or qualified to undertake such a complex program of diagnosis and treatment necessary to save our trees. I mean this as no reflection on our tree surgeons, foresters, tree servicers or spray rig operators who may be able men in their fields but are without the comprehensive scientific knowledge in the various intricate branches of pest, host and physiological relationships necessary for such an undertaking.

I have spent a lifetime in the field of tree and plant pathology during which I pioneered the research on white pine blister rust in Western America for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and had charge of its Division of Forest Pathology in the Pacific Northwest for a number of years. I hold degrees in my field from both Stanford University and University of Minnesota, and the results of my years of research in plant and tree diseases and pests have appeared in a number of scientific journals. A more detailed listing of my qualifications appears in the current "Leaders in American Science." I was one of a small number of Americans invited to speak this year before the 4th International Congress of Crop Protection in Hamburg, Germany.

In addition to my scientific background, I am also motivated in this matter of Carmel's trees by my heritage. I have lived in Carmel, off and on, since 1905 when my mother, the late Mable Gray Young first came here and in the company of such illustrious persons as George Sterling, David Starr Jordan, Jack London, Jimmie Hopper and Mary Austin, gave Carmel a mature cultural refinement and appreciation of its natural beauty. It was through their efforts that Carmel became renowned throughout the world of art, letters and science. They are directly responsible for the prosperity of today, although I am not sure they would want to claim this dubious distinction if they could see the beauty to which they were so sensitive, and which they fought so hard to protect, being allowed to decay.

The goose that laid the golden egg is dying. I can save and do much to nurse it back to health.

Sincerely,

Harry G. Lachmund,
Plant Pathologist and Forester, (Scientific Tree
Surgeon and Plant Doctor).

Adams Explains 2-Percent Ordinance To City Planners

Planning Commissioners yesterday afternoon in study session listened to building inspector Floyd Adams describe the advantages of the city council's two percent open space ordinance governing land use in C-2 zone.

Addition of the two percent open space for landscaping to all other space required for A-H occupancy in the area (driveways, walkways and off street parking) provides for flexible building design Adams pointed out. That this open space shall not be surfaced, covered, enclosed or treated in a manner to prevent it from being completely open, is also to the advantage of the city, he said.

The commission's proposal of a 6-4 ratio (600 square feet of building to 400 square feet open space per 1,000 square foot site) was rigid and did not allow varied design and imaginative use of open space, such as landscaped inner or corner courtyard development, Adams pointed out.

He also said that the not less than two feet on any side requirement for such an open area prevented useless long narrow strips being left unused on the sides of business district buildings.

The requirement that 50 percent of the required open area face the front property line or an alley or right of way for 25 percent of the property frontage provided that Carmel would not be developed in the C-1 and C-2 zones in a uniform manner, Adams continued.

The new ordinance demand that such open space requirements also apply when additions to buildings now existing in the C-1 and C-2 zones are asked was good, Adams thought.

Only change he suggested to the planning commissioners was that where the ordinance says the commission may "vary" any of the requirements in an amount less than 25 percent, he would like the word "reduce" used.

Planning Commissioner Fred Keeble at the end of Adams' talk thought that the 50 percent requirement should not be allowed in any part of a site not in public view.

Commissioner Lee Gottfried pointed out that this 50 percent allowance could be used entirely on the back of a site and not be visible to the public. Mr. Gottfried favored the planning commission's 6-4 ratio to the council's two percent suggestion.

The two percent ordinance establishing open space was the first of three ordinances the council sent the commission for simultaneous public hearings. The second is an amendment to the interim zoning ordinance demanding off street parking, open space and setbacks. Third is a re-adoption of the existing interim ordinance which gives the planning commission almost unlimited power.

The Commission's time ran out after considering the first proposed ordinance and they adjourned their study session tentatively planning another study session on the other two ordinances for Monday afternoon. Public hearing dates will be set at their regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon of next week.

Building plans studied by the Planning Commission yesterday afternoon included the addition of one unit to the existing Monte Verde Apartments submitted by the owner Mrs. Percy Parkes and remodeling of the front of the existing building on Monte Verde Street.

Keith Evans wishes to cover a storage area in the rear of the Pilot Market for use of the proposed Surf and Sand drug store adjacent to the market. Commissioners decided to ask Mr. Evans to appear before them at their regular meeting next Wednesday afternoon to clarify this demand.

ball and carnival rally at Devendorf Plaza and crown the carnival king and queen, previously chosen by the student body voting at one cent a ballot. Nominated for king and queen are Donna Sands and Jerry Stuefloten, senior class; Pam Parker and Jamie Holman, juniors; Phyllis Clayton and Toby Edson, sophomores; and Mary Martin and Frank Mayo, freshmen.

Led by a police car, followed by the Padre (Chris Keeble), cheerleaders, majorettes, the High School band, songleaders and the king and queen car, the parade will return to the school for afternoon classes, hoping Carmelites in large numbers will come to the carnival next day.

Each class has a carnival concession to raise money for college scholarships for qualifying seniors. The High School PTA is joining with students in this effort.

Carnival goers may have cars washed, a hot lunch served by the PTA, try their luck at games of skill for which prizes have been donated by Carmel merchants, and buy anything from stoves to jewelry at the auction. There will be a toyland for children, a baked goods booth and gift and plant concessions.

In the evening starting at 8:00 o'clock students are inviting Carmelites to a dance in the gymnasium. Admission is a quarter and refreshments, entertainment and music will be provided by the various classes. This year is the first time High School students have included a community dance in Carnival Day events ensuring that everyone in town may join with them in providing a college education for selected seniors.

Schultz Back To Haunt City Planners With C-2 Motel Plans

of open space per 1,000 square feet of site) which they sent to the council.

The council hopped on the C-2 merry-go-round again, and, jauntily riding to the tune of protests from the commission disapproved the 4-6 ratio and gave the planning commission three ordinances concerning C-2 zone on which to hold public hearings.

Yesterday afternoon a synthesis of the new ordinances prepared by city attorney John Morse was presented to the commission to study and up popped the new Schultz building. The merry-go-round was slowing for a stop with the three new ordinances as brakes. The planning commission still dizzy from its 15 months ride was faced with two alternatives, to study the proposed Schultz motel in C-2 zone or work on the ordinances before holding public hearings.

They chose the ordinances and the merry-go-round started up again. When it stops the planning commission will be right where they were 15 months ago, faced with approval of a land use in C-2 zone (motel) which they have been trying to exclude from the area ever since July 1956.

Perkins Asks For Gerrymander Of Monte Verde Lots

The Planning Commission yesterday afternoon studied the proposal of M. D. Perkins to divide four 40x100 foot lots on Fourth Avenue between Monte Verde and Lincoln Streets into four 50x100 foot irregularly shaped building sites. Fourth Street is not cut through at this point as it dips into the canyon which opens on Monte Verde. The West side of Lincoln Street is so steep that regular access to two of the present lots is impossible.

Mr. Perkins, through his architect Joseph Wythe, presented gerrymandering suggestions to the planning commission providing access to the property from Fourth and Lincoln Streets. One house will be on each site with a fifth house on an adjoining site facing Monte Verde Street.

Commission's public hearing date on the matter will be set Wednesday afternoon.

Business Assn. To Learn Of New MPC Work-Exp. Program

Monterey Peninsula College will launch a new Work-Education Experience Program next semester, according to Harry Steinberger, MPC business instructor.

Steinberger will discuss the new program at a dinner meeting of the Carmel Business Association on October 31. His topic will be: New Trends in Business Development and Merchandising. The meeting will be held at the Highlands Inn.

The purpose of the Work-Education Experience Program is to offer vocational jobs in merchandising that give students experience, college credit, and salary. Students will be able to enroll in courses in the theory of merchandising, selling, and other business courses, and at the same time have the opportunity of practical application of these theories on the job. Steinberger pointed out, "merchandising today offers tremendous opportunities to young men and women."

An advisory committee of fifteen business men, representing various areas and businesses on the Monterey Peninsula has been organized. The advisory committee held its first meeting on October 9 at the college.

The fifteen members of the committee are: Mark Raggett, Howard Brunn, Ashton Stanley, Frank Shropshire, Gordon Knoles, Jay Lewis, Stanley Greeb, Leon Edner, Payne Deering, Lee Rianda, Art Gorgen, Jerry Lefler, Art Siever, George Higgins, and Lou Gold.
